

"The pitcher that goes often to the well is broken at last." There's a world of wisdom in that familiar proverb, and a sound application of it to disease, especially to such familiar forms of disease as coughs and colds. Singularly enough the very thing that ought to cause alarm is given as excuse for a feeling of safety. "It's nothing; only a cough. I've had it before." The fact that a cough recurs periodically should be warning enough to take it in time, for the most serious and disastrous of all maladies begins with a cough.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery not only stops the cough but cures the cause. It cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bronchitis, weak lungs, hemorrhages, diseases which if neglected or unskillfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is no other medicine "just as good" for weak lungs.

"I was very sick indeed," writes Mrs. Mollie Jacobs of Pelton, Kent Co., Delaware, "and our family doctor said I had consumption. I thought I must die soon for I felt so bad. Had a bad cough, spit blood, was very short of breath, in fact could hardly get my breath at all some times. I had pains in my chest and right lung, also had dyspepsia. Before I took your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' I was so weak I could not sleep a room, and now I can do a small washing. I worked in the cleaning factory this fall, and I feel like a new person. I believe that the Lord and your medicine have saved my life. I was sick over two years. I took thirteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and four of Dr. Pierce's Pellets."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Great Weather Calendar.

The Chattanooga Medicine Co., the manufacturers of McElree's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, have just issued the 1902 edition of the Cardui Weather Chart and Calendar. This calendar has sprung into universal prominence by accurately foretelling the Galveston flood and predicting the droughts and great floods of the past summer, a year ahead of each occurrence. This office has just received one of these calendars, which consists of twelve sheets of paper, 13x20 inches in size, all fastened together with a gift tin strip and a brass loop hanger. Each sheet contains the calendar for one month in large figures that can be read across the room. Under the figures patent weather signals indicating Prof. Devoe's Weather forecasts for every day in the year appear. We understand a few copies of it can be secured by sending 10 cents apiece in postage stamps to The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

THE KING AT CHURCH.

Edward VII. Worships in a Small and Uninteresting Chapel.

The people of London, who usually show great curiosity to see their king, let him alone on Sunday and allow him to worship in peace, declares W. E. Curtis, in the Chicago Record-Herald. It was a remarkable fact that on a recent Sunday morning when there were at least 2,000 people in the courtyard of St. James' palace listening to the music of the band at guard mount, not more than 50 or 60 people, and they the members of the household, were seated in the Chapel Royal, which opens upon that court. There is an outer entrance and an inner one from the corridor of the palace, so that the king may reach it from his apartments in Marlborough house without going into the open air; but all the worshipers, except the royal family, and the ladies and gentlemen in waiting for that day, are admitted at the public doors in St. James' courtyard.

It is a very small and uninteresting church; perhaps there is none more so in all London. There is nothing attractive about it except its severe simplicity. It is as plain as any of the Baptist chapels in South London. The windows are set in ordinary glass, without shades or hangings, and need cleaning badly. The altar is an ordinary table, covered with crimson cloth, upon which the cross of St. George and the three plumes of the prince of Wales are embroidered in gold. The only ornaments are a large brass collection plate, two tall candles in brass candelabras and two brass vases holding bunches of snow-balls. There is no crucifix or cross, but over the altar is a fine painting of the Madonna, by Rubens, which, however, is too large for its place.

There are sittings for about 200 people—long pews running on either side of a single aisle to the wall. The first pew within kneeling distance of the altar rail is occupied by the king and his family, who prefer to sit with the congregation than to use a gallery of handsomely carved oak, which projects from the palace wall and was intended to insure their privacy.

At 9:30 o'clock, while the king, queen and Princess Victoria partook of the communion, administered by Rev. Mr. Shephard, subdean of St. James, the outside doors of the chapel were closed and locked. A little group of people gathered there to await their opening. They were plainly dressed, serious persons, who did not look distinguished, but may have been such, because appearances are very deceitful. Most of them came on foot, although several drove up in carriages that bore coronets upon the panels of the doors. On the minute of ten o'clock an old verger in a black gown, bearing a long staff, opened the doors to admit all who desired to enter. Then he closed and locked them. As soon as the little congregation was seated the verger opened a side door that leads into the palace and a little choir of 12 boys and men entered, singing the processional hymn. The choir boys were dressed in a livery of red and gold. The men wore the usual surplices. Each had a band of erape around his left arm. The minister followed them, with his assistant, one taking the pulpit and the other the reading desk.

Immediately behind them came King Edward VII., dressed in a black frock suit and carrying a silk hat in his ungloved hands. Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria, both of whom are taller than the king, followed quietly after him, and he stood aside to allow them to pass into the pew. The queen wore a gown of plain black, a small black bonnet and a erape collar, as simple a costume as you could imagine. That of the princess was similar, except that she wore a black silk hat instead of a bonnet. Both are beautiful women, and the queen, although past 50 years of age, looks as young as her daughter. Her figure is girlish and graceful, her abundant blonde hair is without a sign of gray, her complexion is fresh and pure as a child's, and she stands and walks with the firm erectness of an athlete. Princess Victoria is a little taller than her mother, but not so plump. Her face is purely English, according to the artists' ideals, although her father is of German ancestry and her mother is a Dane. One would find it difficult to decide which is the handsomer, but no one can look upon the queen of England without being convinced that she is a woman of intellect, refinement and amiable character.

No man knows how foolish he can act until attends a 5 o'clock service.
